Owen Griffiths
Marketing Director

Owen joined McIntosh in 1969, being appointed Marketing Director in 1988 and has been involved for 36 years in the development and manufacture of structural timber solutions. Specialising in laminated timber, he has been involved in expanding the international awareness of NZ Glulam's potential as a prime structural design option for McIntosh. He has been instrumental in introducing NZ Glulam structures to a number of overseas markets that have previously been dominated by steel and concrete. These include a large number of distinctive timber structures in Asia and the Middle East.

Owen is an active member of New Zealand Pine Manufacturers Association, New Zealand Timber Certification Board, Structural Engineered Timber Manufacturers Association and New Zealand Timber Design Society. He has presented various papers and spoken at a number of international seminars on timber design.
