

Workshop: Scaling up and out

Aim: To develop an understanding of how adaptive governance and other approaches can be applied in different contexts for different wicked problems.

Day outcomes:

- (1) Build a network of researchers and practitioners who are able to take advantage of lessons learned for current and future projects on environmental decision making.
- (2) Contribute to designing good practice guidelines for adaptive governance implementation.

Day outputs:

- (1) Professional graphic notes from the forum
- (2) Draft good practice guidelines for adaptive governance & approaches to address wicked problems.

Part 1: Tips, tools and trumpet fanfares

1a. Teams interview by Andrew Dunningham

- Team 1: Weaving the Korowai: Dr Peter Edwards & team
- Team 2: Making SENZs: Dr Ann Brower & team

1b. Sharing lessons learnt amongst different NZ environmental decision-making projects.

Facilitator: Allyson Howell

- How do you define success in your project?
- What was your “theory of change”?
- What would you do differently?
- Who benefits from adaptive governance?
- Challenges and opportunities for Adaptive Governance in New Zealand

Afternoon tea

Part 2: Co-designing good practice

- Overarching question: How to transfer and adapt skills, tools, tips and other good stuff from successful projects to yours?
- Overview by Sandra J. Velarde
- Discussion:
Focusing on practical experience (past or current projects), discuss in pairs, then in groups of 4:
Round 1. Why we need good practice on adaptive governance? for what?
Round 2. What stories we want to tell? to whom?
Round 3. what is the best way to communicate or adapt those lessons (skills, tools, tips) and other good stuff (media, format) to our target audience?
- Network: Complete the networking map started in the morning

Synthesis and closing: Conclusions, evaluation, and farewell

4.30 pm Adjourn

Contact information

Sandra Velarde

Email sandra.velarde@scionresearch.com

Telephone +64 7343 5436

Register at www.EventFinda.co.nz

Adaptive governance & approaches to navigate wicked problems

<https://www.eventfinda.co.nz/2017/adaptive-governance-approaches-to-navigate-wicked-problems/wellington>

