

Weaving the Korowai of Papatūānuku and Making SENZS invite you to a national forum

National forum: Adaptive governance and approaches to navigate (without sinking) wicked problems

Date: 19 October 2017
Location: Exploration Room, Space Place,
40 Salamanca Road, Wellington
Time: 9.30am – 4.30pm

Join us to:

- Progress the understanding and practice of adaptive governance as a means to address complex environmental problems (aka wicked problems)
- Share different perspectives and lessons learnt on environmental decision making approaches from around New Zealand, including those from mid-way through the MBIE programmes Weaving the Korowai of Papatūānuku and Making SENZS.
- Build a network of researchers and practitioners active in current and future projects on environmental decision making.
- Contribute to good practice guidelines for adaptive governance implementation.

Keynote presentations and a panel discussion will be followed by Scaling up and out – a workshop sharing tips and tools, challenges and opportunities, successes, and exploring what environmental decision making practices New Zealand can ‘export’ internationally.
